

Ceruvia Statement on Scott Freeman Litigation

Greenwich, Connecticut, September 13, 2022 –

Dr. Scott Freeman has initiated litigation against Stephen Hurst; Sunray Asset Management; Ceruvia Lifesciences, LLC; Carey Turnbull; Savant Addiction Medicine, and Savant HWP Holdings. Dr. Freeman has asserted 22 claims against these companies and individuals. In general, Dr. Freeman alleges that Mr. Hurst was involved in a conspiracy with the other defendants to enrich himself at Freeman's expense.

"The gravity of a lawsuit depends upon matters of fact," said Carey Turnbull, CEO and founder of Ceruvia Lifesciences. "This lawsuit is riddled with innumerable factual inaccuracies. As such, we intend to vigorously defend ourselves against these false claims. Ceruvia remains fully committed to our BOL-148 clinical development program, which we believe holds great promise in providing relief to the millions of Americans who suffer from headache disorders."

About Ceruvia Lifesciences

Founded in 2017, Ceruvia Lifesciences is a clinical-stage biopharmaceutical company with a mission to improve the lives of underserved patients suffering from neurological and psychiatric disorders. Founded by Carey Turnbull, Ceruvia is relentlessly focused on the development and commercialization of neurotransformational medicines to deliver meaningful relief to patients suffering from hard-to-treat headache disorders, OCD and substance abuse disorder. For too long, these communities have been poorly understood and under-served. At Ceruvia, we believe they no longer have to live this way. With a long history of partnership with leading researchers at Yale University School of Medicine, NYU School of Medicine and Harvard Medical School, Ceruvia is undertaking clinical research in order to help them return to living their lives to the fullest.
